Dear Mr. Casey:

The National Captive Nations Committee, working in concert with prominent international figures and political organizations from across the political spectrum, is planning a National Captive Nations Conference to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Captive Nations Resolution.

The tragic fact is that decades after Lenin and Stalin first showed the world the true nature of communism by slaughtering millions of innocent people, communism continues to subjugate more free nations and peoples. And, tragically, freedom loving people have too often been blind to the atrocities being committed daily, and deaf to all but a very few cries for help.

Most of the world's free citizens are unaware of the extent of this international emergency. But we are aware that you know what the growth of communism means--both to those who have been enslaved and killed by communism, and to those who are threatened by it.

This year's Captive Nations Conference will draw attention to the Communist atrocities presently in Eastern Europe, Afghanistan, Southeastern Asia, and Central America. Your cooperation will help us bring in speakers from around the world to alert the American people to the threat of Marxism, and rally support for the Reagan Administration's stance on Central America.

If you or your organization believe that we currently face an international emergency, and that an awakening of public opinion is critical to a successful resolution of this emergency, we urge you to consider joining us in this commemoration of National Captive Nations Week.

For a $1,000 contribution to this critical event, you or your organization will be designated a Guardian of Freedom. You will receive a mention in all Conference agendas and programs, as well as ten tickets to the formal dinner and luncheon, for which the invited speakers are Secretary of State George Shultz and United Nations Ambassador Jeanne Kirkpatrick respectively.

For a $250 contribution to the National Captive Nations Conference, your organization will receive two tickets for the dinner and luncheon and a designation as a Friend of Freedom in all Conference agendas and programs.

If you will join us in hosting this critical event, please send a check for $1,000 for a Guardian of Freedom or $250 for a Friend of Freedom to Captive Nations Conference, 810-18th Street, N.W., Suite 807, Washington, D.C., 20006. All contributions are tax-deductible.

Since 1917, sixty million people have been killed by communism. Since the first National Captive Nations Week in 1959, millions have died. Can we afford not to work together on this grim commemoration?
